The Basel-based private bank la Roche & Co Banquiers has been in family ownership since its foundation in 1787. Today it is a partnership. The four partners have unlimited personal liability.

La Roche & Co Banquiers focuses on the person and environment of its clients. The relationship is based on mutual esteem and confidence, fairness and humanity, combined with the willing acceptance of innovative solutions.

The advice and service provided, e.g. in matters relating to succession in businesses or inheritance issues, often extends far beyond strictly monetary questions.

La Roche & Co Banquiers has subsidiary companies in Bern and Olten, together with representation in Zurich. It is a member of the Association of Swiss Private Bankers and employs around 100 persons. More than one quarter of them are dedicated to active client relationship management.
